

Addressing Industry's Priority Needs

Agriculture has a long history here. We import 85% of what we eat while struggling to keep invasive species out. Cooperative Extension works with stakeholders on a wide ranging issues from food safety to energy security, from organic farm practices to biotechnologies and from environmental threats to vulnerabilities of our citizens.

2X

Local food supply by 2030

Diamondback Moth Resistance

Local, Research Based Advances

CTAHR responds with a broad range of Cooperative Extension programs that draw on both cultural traditions and modern science to promote diversified agriculture, sustainable resource management and resilient communities.

2,506 miles from the US

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION

COLLEGE OF TROPICAL AGRICULTURE AND HUMAN RESOURCES
UNIVERSITY OF HAWAI'I AT MĀNOA

Whitmore Agricultural Development Project Farmer Training and Development

- Program Created in December 2015.
- Developed in partnership with the Wahiawa Community Development Organization and the City and County of Honolulu.
- Enrolled 8 participants and graduated 6 participants into the incubator program.

- Training from specialist in soil health, plant propagation, pest control & good agricultural practices.
- Classroom training accompanied by hands on field experience.
- Networking opportunities with agricultural professionals.
- Graduate level incubator program.

